

LOCAL NEWS.

The cold wave which struck us Sunday night is received with much pleasure by old and young.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Turner died, suddenly, Sunday morning. Our sincere condolences to the bereaved parents.

Very Clever
TINE BRONZE LAMP complete, for one dollar, [Paducah News.]

The ladies of the Episcopal church, Fulton, gave an oyster supper Tuesday night, and realized between $10 and $20 for church purposes.

If you want PICKLES in winter, go to J. W. ROGERS.

The ladies of the Episcopal church were to give a supper last night for church and charitable purposes, which we risk nothing in saying was a splendid entertainment, and we trust was well patronized.

PERFUMERY, Pocket Knives, Toilet Soaps, &c. FORTUNES.

Mr. JOHN KISTNER, of Hickman, left Tuesday morning for Metropolis, Ill., to be married to a young lady of that place. The bride and groom are expected to leave Hickman on Friday or Saturday.

TRY SEA-FOAM (Baking Powder), th test in use, at FORTUNES DRUG STORE.

Ter Smith west Ky. Medical Society met at Fulton, this county, Tuesday, and was well attended; and we learn the meeting was especially interesting to the profession.

MY DOG, strayed from my premises, and giving me information of the same will have my best thanks, besides being rewarded. Description—female, red setter, and about eight months old.

Tim WALTERS.

One of our sporting gentlemen, the other day, while at the Lake shot at a squirrel but brought down a mule. It has not transpired what the mule was doing up in the trees.

If you want pure refined COOKING OIL, go to J. W. ROGERS.

Messrs. HELLMER, Faris and Conigli, a committee on the part of the city of Hickman, met the Congressional River Committee at Cairo, Monday, and submitted to them the necessities of river improvement at this point.

If you want pure APPLE VINEGAR, go to J. W. ROGERS.

Mr. WILL WILBURN has bought the Hickman bakery and confectionery, and added thereto the largest and finest stock of goods in that line that has been brought to Hickman for many days. He has the services of a splendid baker, and can supply private parties, bakers, &c. Give him a liberal encouragement.

He keeps the finest assortment of CANDIES, CIGARS and TOBACCOES.

If you want the finest SODA WAFER CRACKER in the world, go to J. W. ROGERS.

Mr. D. L. GOLSON has bought out the grocery establishment of Mrs. Scherff, and will hereafter conduct that business, selling a stock of the best assortment of family groceries, wines and liquors for family and medical purposes, and a great variety of such things as are usually kept. He is a liberal dealer, therefore give him a liberal patronage.

BY EXPRESS.

Mrs. JONES writes to insure in informing ladies that she has just received by express a new and elegant Hickman wear, consisting of the Langley Collar and Frock, and various other novelties. Call early and secure for yourself something unique and stylish. Now is the time for all who have not purchased a hat or bonnet, to procure one, while the stock is fresh and new.

An unfortunate shooting affair occurred at Union City Friday night last, during the Democratic jubilee at that place, in which Mr. Morton, editor of the Union City Anchor shot a Mr. Madden. Report says Morton was drinking and asked Madden how he voted in the election. Madden replied that he voted for Bate, whereupon Morton drew a revolver, and saying that it would be the last time that Madden would vote for Bate, shot him. Report says that Madden has since died.

Don't You Forget It.—Old Buck is smashing high prices, and if you want first class goods, at the very lowest cost and examining goods and prices.

Some of the public roads near Hickman are in wretched condition at this time and are likely to become worse as winter approaches. The time for working roads to do them much good has passed some time ago; so the old adage of "I never saw such roads," will be heard again from the traveling public until summer comes again except the overseer, he is never heard to complain no matter how deep he is. His losses can be accounted for only for the want of time.

WEATHER PREDICTION.—An old friend of ours, without any pretensions to be a weather prophet, has contended all along that the present winter will be a mild one, predicting his belief upon the winter of 1875-76; that a transit of Venus took place in December 1875, and was preceded by a very wet summer just as the past summer has been, and he thinks the same causes exist now and have existed for the last six months which prevailed in 1875, and consequently an open winter may be looked for with almost certainty. There is some plausibility in this opinion, and so far, though not properly winter yet, the indications are favorable to its verification. Outside the bottoms, until last Sunday night, the tenderest vegetables were green as they were in June—tomatoes, beans and peas were in bloom in some of the bluest gardens. For the last three or four mornings we have had heavy frosts and ice, but the same mild and delightful weather has returned.

Mr. JAMES B. WALTERS, of Obion county, on the evening of the 6th inst., was kicked by a mule which he was driving through a gate on his premises, and died from the effects of the blow in about two hours.

Only a two-thirds coffee crop is reported from Hayti.

The office of the Weekly Tribune for sale. The reason is bad health of the proprietor. The office is almost entirely new and the paper is in a flourishing condition.

The price of quinine has fallen from 2 to $1.50 per ounce. The prediction of our home manufacturers of the article that after its admission free of duty has not been verified.

IN MEMORY OF ANNA RHEA TURNER.

One who loved her,
Our little darling sweetest rest,
God, our Father, known to us,
To that bright radiant dome,
To the bright stars in the blue sky,
Turn, thy stay on earth was brief,
The land, and yet we should not weep,
A model form, our love too small,
Thy childhood passed through each day,
Thy mother's ways were always pure,
Thy father was not bad for you.

He was the house now, all is over,
Our love, our care, our care,
And there at least we have a safe place,
For here have been here the sweetest and
A bright life, this is a lesson to us,
A lesson to us, a lesson to us,
November 12th, 1882.

The New Deal.

A Republican Reformation of the State.

(New York Graphic.)

Whoever is taken by surprise by yesterday's voting has not paid any attention to the signs of the times. Defeat for the Rep. party is not to be attributed to political hiccups for many months.

The party made mistakes after mistakes, it has shown a remarkable faculty of being that it should not have done, and of leaving undone what it should have done, and of not being able to do what it should have done.

The Republican leaders, however, are not to be blamed for the mistakes of the party, but the party itself is to be blamed for the civil war and all the issues that grew out of it have been relegated to the dead past, and that new principles are being adopted.

The new measures are needed to keep intelligent men in the party traces. They failed to do this, and the party is now being led by men who were born with during the war, and so long as the results of the war were still disputed, and not in harmony with the thought of the best elements of the party, and the party could not be sure of the people's support.

The new principles are to be adopted for a strong and independent Washington that will meddle with the local affairs of the States.

Yesterday's election should teach them who they are, if they will wish to remain in public life. It should also teach the Democratic leaders what their party must do if it expects to retain the power of the state.

The old party looks now to the future.

It is to be hoped that the new vigor of youth in mind, if not in body, will allow it to come to the front. The better half of both parties must be fused together to accomplish this requirement that the real vital dangers of the time be boldly faced.

The spirit of monopoly has been the ruin of the Republican party. From trying to concentrate all the powers of government in their hands to the attempt to keep monopoly all over the country. It is to be hoped that they will be led away by the notion that the absorption of the rights of the states will be the best way to keep the power of the central government.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road. They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the moneyed corporations.

The American people are to be blamed.

They refuse to go any further on this dangerous road.

They perceive the abyss beyond, and they propose to save themselves.

They give notice that government must return to its legitimate sphere, and that the secret of its success lies in the people against the traditions of monopoly.

The party which has been the chief factor in leading it astray were those who found a pecuniary profit therein—the

H. BUCHANAN,

Has just received the largest stock of New and Fashionable GOODS ever brought to Hickman. A big fall in prices. Ten to Twenty per cent. saved in everything bought at the low price house of H. Buchanan. A full and complete line of elegant DRESS GOODS, LACES, EMBROIDERIES, GLOVES, NECK-WEAR, DRESS TRIMMINGS, and HOSIERY, all new and beautiful, and at 10 to 20 per cent. less than can be found elsewhere. A full line of SATINS, VELVETS, SILKS, &c., at a full discount of from 10 to 20 per cent. A splendid line of Ladies' and Misses' custom-made shoes, in all styles. Every pair warranted to give satisfaction. The most elegant line of Ladie's cloaks, ever brought to Hickman, on which you can save 10 to 20 per cent. by buying from H. Buchanan. All new and of the latest style. The largest and most elegant line of gentlemen's ready made clothing, overcoats, underwear, in endless variety, all new and substantial goods. We guarantee these goods to be full 10 to 20 per cent less than can be bought elsewhere. I am the maker of low prices in Hickman, and am determined to keep up the reputation. I mean business. Death to high prices. All goods warranted as represented; no deception; no old goods; no auction goods; no bankrupt goods; sold in this house.

THE HICKMAN COURIER

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY GEORGE WARREN,
HICKMAN, KENTUCKY.

FRIDAY, NOV. 17, 1882

A Plan to Ruin the Demos-

The renders of this paper must bear witness to the fact that the Hickman Courier, for years past, has been striving to harmonize and reunite the Democrats of this District. The Turner Democrats and the Grace Democrats, alike, must bear witness that this spirit has ever characterized this paper.

The Courier is still fighting for harmony, and more earnestly since than before the Congressional election, because the necessity for harmony is more apparent to all, and the facts more convincing to all. It is plain to all that if the feed is permitted to continue, that it is only a question of time when the Republicans will triumph in this District.

In the recent election the Republicans carried McCracken, they carried Trigg, they carried Crittenden, and several other counties hung trembling in the balance. There is no doubt that if the Republicans had possessed sufficient confidence and backbone to have gone to the polls and voted for their man, they would have elected him over Turner and Grace.

The figures prove this.

But they let the opportunity slip, and now is the time for sincere democrats to look the situation squarely full in the face, setting down nothing in malice, prejudice or passion, but as sensible men and true democrats view facts as they for the struggle of 1884.

THE POPULAR REACTION.

The Democratic Groundswell.

The Democrats have assured to them 157 Congressmen; the Republicans 118, excluding five Abolitionists and fourteen doubtful. Granting all these to the Republicans, and they would have but 186 votes leaving the Democrats a majority of forty. But it is against the logic of recent events to conceded all the doubtful votes to the Republicans.

There stands a list of 100 Democratic Congressmen as well as Congressmen, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Colorado, California, Michigan, Kansas, are all in line with Democratic Magistrates, some of whom are elected by majorities the bare receipt of which is like a tear from the Arabian Nights. Cleveland has 104,000. It is next to the imagination to think of his having any more. Patrons in Pennsylvania, emphasizes his election with a plurality of 37,000, while Kansas forgets her traditions and elects Glyck over St. John by 5,000. In nearly all quite all the instances where a Democrat is chosen as Governor he is supported by an Assembly of his own political faith.

Kentucky embraces her sisters—Indiana and Tennessee—and hails their return to the family root tree. Gallant Bate, backed by the dauntless courage of the Tennessee Democracy, has done something more than win a Governorship and settle a vexed local question. He has aligned his State fully with the party for the struggle of 1884.

THE VOTE FOR CONGRESS.

Counties.	Turner	Grace	Hickman
Edmonson	252	461	91
Edwards	550	620	326
Graves	1,023	1,185	741
Ballard	289	435	685
Boyle	1,157	1,157	250
Marshall	581	875	944
McCracken	845	750	818
Trotwood	202	486	428
Caldwell	278	658	612
Trigg	219	759	724
Livingston	452	350	176
Total	8,696	7,577	6,724

The November Report of the Department of Agriculture gives the corn crop of the country at 1,000,000,000 bushels.

Destructive Fire at Frankfort.

A destructive fire occurred at Frankfort on the evening of the 11th, destroying one livery stable, (where the fire originated by the carelessness of a negro putting away hay with a pipe in his mouth,) three dwellings, one drug store, the post office, Buhler's hotel, and the Opera house belonging to the city, and built at a cost of $40,000.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RIVER COM- MISSION.

An interviewer of the Commercial, at Louisville, asked, "What will be the work of the Commission?"

Mr. Carlisle made the reply and said: "We will examine the improvements made in the river, and see what further improvements are needed. The jetty system will be looked into and the various contracts for proposed work on the river will be examined. We will also listen to the recommendations of the river and see what they wish to have done for the improvement of the commerce of the river and the general interest of the country. You may say truly that we are to see what we can do for the improvement of the Mississippi river and the increase of its commerce."

This is the plan, and as we believe, the only plan, that will reunite and harmonize our party. We ask an expression from the District Committee and from the press of the District on the suggestion.

VENICE still predicts that we are to have an extremely cold winter.

CHANCELLOR MERRIT, of Nashville, has decided that the officers of matrimonial companies are individually liable.

It is said that the post office inspector has recommended that marriage associations be denied the privileges of the mail.

CIVILIZATION has set in in Kansas, and the defeated republican candidate for Governor can not survive.

Washington is rapidly filling up in anticipation of the winter session of Congress. The demand for houses, rooms and similar accommodations exceeds anything known for many years.

The estimated losses from fires in the United States during the present year foot up more than $61,000,000, or about $7,000,000 more than the average for four years.

Two Mormon elders are in Georgia, Alabama and East Tennessee trying to make converts to their belief. They propose staying South two years to induce as many as possible to join their Church and emigrate to Utah.

The General Convention of the Universalist Church of this country, held in Philadelphia a few days ago, adopted a resolution denouncing capital punishment as barbarous, and recommended the imprisonment for life as a substitute. A resolution in favor of liquor prohibition was also adopted.

A NATIONAL convention of liquor dealers, held in Milwaukee week before last, formed an organization for the purpose of resisting the Prohibition movement in the several States, and appointed an executive committee to direct and manage their cause.

HON. JOHN G. CARLISLE

Personal Anecdotes of the Next Speaker of the House.

His First Speech in Court and His First Love—How He Saved a Lad in Trou- ble—His Reputation and Per- sonal Char- acteristics.

The Democratic Victories. Republicans Explain It.

DETROIT Nov. 8.—Col. Robert Ingalls, who lectures here to-night, has in several instances given his views on the political situation, and in answer to the question, who caused the greatest political reaction.

1. The extra-budget appropriations.

2. The refusal to appropriate, at least $200,000,000, which have been taken from the funds of the people. Twenty millions should have been taken from the entire sum from tobacco.

The Republican party should have taken such steps to maintain the revenue, as to make it difficult for the tobacco to be abolished.

The people are tired of paying taxes in time of peace. They want collectors and treasury agents and gaugers and will not be deceived by the appearance of trifles.

3. The almost entire non-payment of tariff.

4. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

5. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

6. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

7. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

8. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

9. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

10. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

11. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

12. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

13. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

14. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

15. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

16. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

17. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

18. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

19. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

20. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

21. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

22. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

23. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

24. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

25. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

26. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

27. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

28. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

29. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

30. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

31. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

32. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.

33. The great mistake of the

people in not electing a man who

had the right qualities.